Quitting before a Dream has been achieved is probably done 80% more often than Dreams that are actually achieved.

So...

Why do so many Dreams Fail?

Because we set our goals too high. (When a goal is set too high, it is frustrating and becomes too hard to achieve.)

We need Small Goals...

And, a BIG DREAM!

Quote:

If you can DREAM it, you can DO it.

Author: Walt Disney

Dreams are built on accomplishing one small goal at a time; then strung together like a pearl necklace, one small pearl (one small goal) strung together with one more small pearl (one more small goal), and before you know it you have a beautiful pearl necklace (your Dream has come true).

Quote:

A rock pile ceases to be a rock pile the moment a single man contemplates it, bearing within him the image of a cathedral.

Author: Antoine de Saint-Exupery

We need to have Big Dreams; Dreams are Motivating, Fun and Exciting, but only if we see ourselves getting a little closer to our dream each day, does it stay Exciting.

By "Setting Small Goals" each day, that we know we can accomplish; and which directly pertain to our Dream, we will be able to see ourselves getting a little closer to our Dream each day; this is how we will stay motivated "not" to quit.

Quote:

"Discipline is the bridge between goals and accomplishment."

Author: Jim Rohn

Not Finishing the small goals is the Number #1 Dream killer; so Never leave your goal for the day unfinished, no matter what it takes, FINISH it; this is how we teach ourselves to start and FINISH "one" goal at a time.

And... when we learn how to start and FINISH "one" small goal each day... We Will Achieve Our Dreams!

What is your dream?

What small goal can you FINISH today, that takes you one step closer to your Dream?

Dream Big!
